RESIDENTS IN RAGE AT FOOTBALL CLUB

Controversial plan to turn green belt land into a training facility for Premier League club should be booted into touch, say protesters

Protesters at a recent meeting Code NA

By a Champion Reporter

RESIDENTS in a West Lancashire village are raging against controversial plans by a premiership football club to build a new training facility on their doorstep – on green belt land.

The villagers have set up a new campaign group, called W–RAGE, which stands for Wrightington Residents Against Greenbelt Erosion in opposition to plans by Wigan Athletic FC to build a new training facility on land behind Wrightington Hotel and Country Club.

A W–RAGE spokesperson said this week: "There has been overwhelming opposition to these proposals. Premier League Clubs such as Manchester City are developing their training facilities to regenerate brownfield or derelict sites which improves the areas. Wigan Athletic Football Club's investment should be encouraged but not when they are choosing to build on farmland in a rural village behind a hotel owned by the football club's owner, business tycoon and Parbold resident Dave Whelan.

"Sadly, despite out attempts to maintain dialogue with the club, Wigan Athletic are now refusing to speak to residents opposed to their plans and we feel as if they just want to steamroller the community to get their way."

The club is due to submit a full planning application for the scheme to the borough council in the coming weeks, but has already been engaged in a pre–planning consultation with the local authority and has held a meeting in the village to inform residents of its plans.

A pre–planning statement made available to residents by Wigan FC said that the club's existing Christopher Park facilities were simply not big enough to accommodate all of the Category 1 Academy requirements, and that it is looking to provide a modern first team facility to compete with other Premier League clubs.

The statement reads: "Whilst (Wigan Athletic) can accommodate a lot of the elements required at Christopher Park including a proposed new indoor pitch, artificial pitch, floodlighting and changing rooms, the site cannot accommodate the accommodation necessary for the older academy age groups nor the professional squad which needs to find a home elsewhere.

Tea party celebrates 108 years of Rotary International

The Tick Tock Singers Code NA

THE Rotary Club of Ormskirk Clocktower held a tea party at Christ Church Ministry Centre to coincide with Rotary Day, which this year celebrates the 108th year of Rotary International.

At the event they hosted more than 60 guests who were members of Christ Church and Age UK luncheon clubs.

During the afternoon entertainment was provided by Ormskirk Ukulele Club, The Tick Tock Singers (a choir that includes Rotary members) and young musician Harry Lilley playing the accordion.

Veterans welcomed

Report by
Danielle Thompson

LANCASHIRE is hoping to draw the armed forces personnel into the heart of the community with a new initiative.

The county council is looking to establish a Community Covenant. This will set out how the council will work with Armed Forces veterans, their families and other organisations.

It will be a 'commitment of mutual recognition and support' between the community, the Armed Forces and veterans.

County Councillor Mike France, the Champion for Armed Forces Veterans, said: "The council already works on various projects and activities in this area but by bringing these services together, we can make this even more effective for the armed forces community.

"Creating a Community Covenant would help to bring those arrangements together in a more formal way – something that's already being done by other councils across the country."

The covenant hopes to encourage the community to support the armed forces community in their areas, promote understanding of issues affecting the armed forces, encourage integration of the armed forces community into local life and to recognise and remember the sacrifices made by the armed forces.

Current support in Lancashire for serving personnel and veterans includes secondary school mentoring initiatives and support for veterans through the volunteer service.

The chairman also hosts an annual recognition reception for local military representatives.

Residents rally against football club's plan

After looking at a number of sites in and around Wigan, the Wrightington site was identified given its location, suitability and availability to provide the development by the middle of 2014, the deadline the Premier League has established for the facilities to be in place.

"A planning application is being prepared for the site and will be submitted shortly to West Lancashire Borough Council. The club has already held a consultation evening at the Wrightington Hotel which was very well attended. Many residents did however express concern about the proposals. The club has decided to put the most up to date plans on Signet Planning's website for residents who both attended the evening and those that did not to look at. There is the opportunity to comment on them using the consultation part of our website. We have also sent a number of hard copies of the plans and accompanying documents to the parish council for those who do not have internet access."

The club also added that the size and the height of the proposed pavilion had been reduced, along with the extent of the car park, in response to objections from residents.

Members of W–Rage have also been given the backing of borough MP Rosie Cooper, who said: "Residents are clear they feel this is the wrong development in the wrong location for the wrong reasons. I am working with W–RAGE to ensure that their voices are heard and their concerns are not ignored by the Club or the Borough Council.

"It is the residents who will have to live with the consequences of a development of this size and of this nature sited in the Greenbelt. We can't have developments which affect an entire community for the convenience of one individual and their interests."

• Earlier this year, The Champion reported on how Wigan Athletic FC was being urged by West Lancashire Labour group leader Councillor John Fillis to build the new football training academy in Skelmersdale.

Cllr Fillis has said: "Skelmerdale has the land, road network that would accommodate such a facility as well as the capability to expand."

The club would not be drawn on the Skelmersdale idea.

Call goes out to join town centre spring clean–up

By Danielle Thompson

LOVE Ormskirk's 'Spring Clean' project is going full steam ahead next week to spruce up the town centre and improve the appearance of empty shops.

The clean–up team will include volunteers from local churches and schools as well as retailers and staff from major stores in the town.

Chris Wooton from Poppies, the main sponsor of the project, said: "We are keen to make a difference to the appearance of Ormskirk as this is something that has been highlighted as a reason for people not coming into the town."

As an example of how to improve they will clean and repaint an empty unit at Number 1, Burscough Street (formerly Johnsons) as well as putting vinyls on the windows.

Although some landlords oppose putting vinyls on empty shop windows, project organisers say they feel it helps improve the look of empty units.

Love Ormskirk hopes as many businesses as possible will get involved in the project.

Boots, M&S, Catwalk, Joseph's, Competitive Edge, Pandora's Box and Shepherds Ormskirk Paints have confirmed they are taking part.

Love Ormskirk members will be at a gazebo next to the clock tower on Monday, April 8 to answer any questions.

They are urging everyone to get involved as a volunteer, especially those with skills such as joinery and painting and decorating.

Contact the Love Ormskirk team on 01695 577881 or email at hello@loveormskirk.com.

Search scaled down for missing reporter

By Danielle Thompson

THE search for a journalist who went missing while walking in the Highlands of Scotland is being scaled down, say police.

Clive Dennier, 50, who now lives in Scotland but is originally from Ormskirk, was reported missing when he failed to show up to work on Monday, March 25 at the newpaper he works for, the Strathspey and Badenoch Herald.

Police found his silver VW Polo on Good Friday in the Knoydart area west of Invergarry following extensive searches across the Highlands.

Police dog patrols and the voluntary air service Skywatch will continue with the search, but the coastguard and RAF teams are no longer involved. Mountain rescue teams were deployed to the search around Knoydart, between Lochs Nevis and Hourn, which is known as 'Britain's last wilderness' and can only be reached by a 16–mile walk through rough country or by boat and it's seven miles of road are not connected to the UK road system.

Clive Dennier went missing walking in Scotland.

A police spokesman said: "An extensive search continues. This is an understandably anxious time for Mr Dennier's family and they request that their privacy be respected."

Cameron McNeish, one of the most famous hill walkers in Scotland, spoke out about Mr Dennier's disappearance.

He said: "During his career Clive has often written about climbing accidents and hill walkers who have gone missing.

"It's cruelly ironic that he is now the subject of a massive search."

Burglar smashes window with rock

A BURGLAR used a rock from a back garden to smash the window of French doors at a house in Derby Street in Ormskirk.

The offender then searched the house and used a knitting bag and pillow case to make off with the stolen property.

MP voices concerns to minister over 'lack of openness' at One Connect

Report by David Simister

WEST Lancashire MP Rosie Cooper has raised concerns over transparency at One Connect Limited, a partnership between BT and Lancashire County Council, with Local Government minister Eric Pickles in the Parliament.

Ms Cooper said: "What steps is the Secretary of State taking to ensure that all councillors on both authorities will not be prevented from exercising their fiduciary duty to their council tax payers under the guise of commercial confidentiality?

"Will he investigate the openness and transparency of those arrangements in relation to the use of public moneys?"

Mr Pickles described One Connect as "a very good thing" but said he was happy to investigate further any issues about its transparency.

He said: "I have actually visited that site and that venture of co–operation.

Eric Pickles visited One Connect in Ormskirk last December.

It is a very good thing, and I think it will help out the process.

"If the honourable lady has a particular problem about a lack of transparency in relation to the importance of councillors ensuring that their constituents are treated fairly, I will happily look into it."

Ms Cooper said she welcomed Mr Pickles' comment and added that she was concerned by a "creeping veil of secrecy in public services."

She added: "For months I've been concerned about the lack of openness, transparency and publicly available information about the agreement between One Connect Limited, Lancashire County Council and West Lancashire Borough Council.

"Whenever questions are asked about the contract, services, performance or staffing issues you are met with the brick wall of 'commercial confidentiality.'

"I have no view on whether One Connect is providing a good level of service.

"We don't know the answers because they refuse to provide any information. Yet this is a service funded by the council taxpayers.

"It is their money and they deserve to know how their money is being spent."

No one from One Connect was available for a comment.

Having a ball to say thanks

Family of brave tot stage fundraiser for hospital that helped her to combat rare spinal condition AND beat cancer!

By Danielle Thompson

THE family of a brave young girl who defied the odds to conquer a rare birth condition and then beat cancer are organising a charity ball to thank the hospital that treated her.

Two–year–old Ailsa McTavish was born with a rare medical condition affecting her lower spine and then had to battle kidney cancer when she was only four months old.

But the brave youngster from Ormskirk has now managed to beat cancer and has defied the odds by learning to walk.

Her father, Ian, told The Champion: "When she was born, the base of her spine was not fully formed and she had a short spinal column.

"We were told that she might never walk but now she is not only walking but messing about and dancing just like any child.

"She has also finished her chemotherapy. Her cancer was caught early and dealt with quickly so that side of her treatment is over now.

"Luckily it's a type of cancer that doesn't usually come back, although she will need more operations as she grows up to treat her coecal abnomaly."

Now Ian and his wife, Louise, who own O'Este restaurant on Chapel Street, Ormskirk, are organising a fund–raising ball on Friday, April 12th to thank Alder Hey children's hospital in Liverpool.

Ailsa was rushed from Ormskirk Hospital to Alder Hey when she was just a few hours old and had her first surgery two days later. Since then she has undergone a total of 13 operations.

Mum Louise, spoke of her fears for Ailsa when she was diagnosed. "Ailsa was born with cloacal anomalies and sacreal agensis, which we are told affects only one in 25,000 people.

"She was taken to Alder Hey very soon after she was born, literally within a few hours. It was a very scary time for us all.

"Ian and I were told these conditions would require major surgery almost straight away and more surgery throughout her life.

"We were also told there was the possibility that Ailsa might never be able to walk due to the sacreal agensis, which was devastating for us.

"Then, when she was just three months old a tumour was discovered on her kidney which after investigation was found to be a Neuroblastoma Stage 4.

"In total, she has endured 13 operations, four of those were major, plus chemotherapy, suffered numerous infections, learnt to live with a colostomy and a visacostomy and, despite all the odds, learned to walk.

Brave tot Ailsa with her parents.

Code NA

"Her fight is not over but her own strength and Alder Hey's care is proving a successful combination."

Ian added: "Ailsa is our world and she has been so brave.

"The NHS seems to get a lot of bad press these days, for every bad story there are untold stories of dedication, care, and compassion that are all too often never told.

"That's why we are raising funds to say thank–you for all of this.

"My family in Scotland held a fundraising night which raised more than £2,500, which we were blown away by.

"We're now holding a black–and–white ball with a three–course meal and a disco on April 12th and hope to raise even more.

"Local businesses have been very generous with their support and there are some fantastic raffle prizes, as well as a few hidden free guest prizes."

If you are a local business and want to get involved or just fancy a great night out dining and dancing for a worthy cause, please call O'Este on 01695 571123.

Tickets are on sale priced £25.

It's all change for our health services

Report by Henry James

NHS West Lancashire Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) has taken over the responsibility for buying West Lancashire healthcare from NHS Central Lancashire Primary Care Trust.

West Lancashire's CCG is led by the 23 GP practices of the borough and employs 15 members of staff to support the GPs and is based in Ormskirk.

Bosses at the CCG have said they plan to work with local people, their partners in West Lancashire and those partners outside of the area to make effective use of resources. A spokeswoman for the group said: "We will strive to provide the best possible care for our local population and to empower people to be in control of their own health and health care services."

The CCG serves a community of 109,000 people in Ormskirk, Skelmersdale and surrounding communities.

Mike Maguire, chief officer of NHS West Lancashire Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) commented: "We have five GPs and other health experts involved in the organisation, and it's that clinical knowledge that will be one of the key differences to commissioning.

"We will use that medical knowledge to help make the right decisions for patients and by doing so, will boost the quality, safety and choice of health services for everyone in West Lancashire.

Vital

"As well as the GPs, we also have a member of the board who looks at getting patients and public involved in our organisation – something that is absolutely vital as we are committed to making sure everyone can share their views on their own local healthcare."

The CCG's health priorities centre around: preventing people from dying prematurely, enhancing quality of life for people with long–term conditions, ensuring patients have a positive experience of care, assisting local people with recovery from episodes of ill health/injury and making sure the people of West Lancashire are treated in a safe environment with appropriate systems in place to ease their patient journey.

Locally the CCG aims to address a number of targets, such as reducing admission to paediatrics, reducing length of stay for dementia admissions in acute hospitals and reducing admissions within 30 days for long term conditions.

West Lancashire Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) are to host several open public events in West Lancashire to meet with the local community. To find out more about these log onto www.westlancashireccg.nhs.uk

MP calls on council to end car park 'confusion'

Report by Henry James

Concerns raised after residents are penalised for using wrong machine

ROSIE Cooper is calling on West Lancs Borough Council to find a solution to parking problems at the Marks & Spencer car park in Ormskirk.

At present, responsibility for the car park is split between the council and the store who have just 16 spaces and one disabled bay to manage.

West Lancs MP Rosie says she has received complaints from residents who've received parking tickets for using the wrong ticket machine and who claim the demarcation between the two car parks is not clear enough.

Following the complaints, Rosie contacted Marks & Spencer over the situation.

In their response, she said, M & S acknowledged that the existing car parking arrangements cause "confusion" and said they agreed to speak to the council to discuss a potential agreement over the car park situation.

Rosie said: "I welcome Marks & Spencer's willingness to resolve this unnecessary confusing situation.

"What we need now is the borough council to get round the table and reach an agreement that will benefit local shoppers parking in the town.

"We are trying to encourage people in to the town centre to shop. Issuing penalty charges for purchasing a ticket from the wrong machine is a surefire way of driving them away from Ormskirk.

"We are only talking about 17 car parking spaces. Ridiculous administrative car parking arrangements can't be allowed to be a barrier to local shoppers."

A council spokesman responded: "The council has taken a number of steps to make it clear which parts of the car park are the responsibility of the council and which parts are the responsibility of Marks and Spencer.

"These include providing warning signs upon entry, warning notices on the ticket machines with clear plans showing which car park is which, and the car park areas themselves are also clearly marked out with coloured lining.

"However, we are happy to speak to Marks and Spencer to see if there are any further improvements that can be made."

An M & S spokesperson added: "Over the last 12 months we have made improvements to the M & S car park and payment machine to help make our signage and the boundaries clearer for customers.

"We recognise that more can be done in both car parks and remain committed to working with the council for a positive outcome for the benefit of our customers and users of the council–owned car park."

Writers compete for Edge Hill short story prize

By Danielle Thompson

MORE than 30 writers from across the UK are battling it out to win the prestigious Edge Hill Short Story Prize.

The prize, the only award in the UK that recognises excellence in a published collection of short stories, has attracted a mix of established writers as well as newcomers.

The winner of the award, now in its seventh year, will receive £5,000 and there is also a £1,000 readers' prize up for grabs.

An outstanding student on the university's creative writing course will win the £500 student prize.

Prize co–ordinator, Dr Ailsa Cox, Reader in Creative Writing and English at Edge Hill University, said: "This is the biggest and the most impressive long–list we've ever had, with a fantastic mix of voices and styles.

Variety

"Clearly, writers and their publishers are recognising the significance of this prize, unique in the British book world.

"The variety is matched by the very high standard of so many of these collections.

"It is going to be harder than ever to limit our short–list to five."

Famous writers who have entered the competition include Carys Bray with 'Sweet Home', who won the MA Creative Writing category in the Edge Hill Short Story Prize in 2010; DW Wilson, the 2011 winner of the National Short Story Prize and Jackie Kay, who was also short–listed in the first year of the prize in 2007.

Irish novelists include Joseph O'Connor, author of the widely–acclaimed novel 'Star Of The Sea', Emma Donoghue, who was Booker Prize short–listed for 'Room' and Kevin Barry, who was last year's Sunday Times Short Story Prize winner.

The winner will be chosen in May from the final five works at Waterstones, Piccadilly in London.

School helper who downloaded child porn is spared jail

By Court Reporter

A PRIMARY school volunteer helper who had obscene images of youngsters on his computer has been spared jail.

Liverpool Crown Court heard that police raided Zbigniew Kadlubowski's home after suspicions arose about him downloading indecent images and when they went into his bedroom they found a child's doll and girl's clothing, including knickers, which he had bought on the internet.

His computer was analysed and found to have a total of 5,841 pornographic images of children aged between five and 13, said Harry Pepper, prosecuting.

When Kadlunowski, a 32–year–old Pole, was arrested he admitted downloading the images and wearing children's clothing at the same time for sexual gratification. He admitted 21 offences of making and possessing indecent images and also pleaded guilty to stealing four pairs of shorts from the school where he had volunteered for three years.

The court was told that Kadlubowski of Hesketh Lane, Tarleton, was arrested by police on the day of the raid, February 11 this year at the school, Becconsall All Saints CE Primary, Hesketh Bank.

Sentencing him, Judge Clement Goldstone, QC, the Recorder of Liverpool, described it as a sad case involving "sexual perversion." He imposed a three–year community order with attendance on a sex offenders programme and warned him that if he breached the orders he would face jail. The judge also imposed an order restricting his computer and internet use, banned him from working with children and ordered him to sign the Sex Offenders Register for five years.

Simon Christie, defending, said that Kadlubowski was a hard worker who had relationships with women but they had not lasted. He had admitted what he had been doing and accepted that he needed help.

WIN a 5★ FAMILY BREAK IN LONDON with Kingsmill Lunch Spots

Kingsmill has launched a campaign to find the UK's favourite Lunch Spots to celebrate its sponsorship of The Big Lunch 2013. Kingsmill has partnered with national tourist boards such as VisitEngland & Visit Wales to find the UK's top 10 favourite locations to have lunch. To celebrate the campaign launch, Kingsmill, in conjunction with Champion Newspapers, is offering a 5* 2-night break in London to one lucky family.

What's more, the package also includes travel expenses to the value of £200, tickets to the London Eye and London Zoo and a picnic hamper for all the family. Celebrity ambassador Jeff Brazier is supporting the campaign by encouraging everyone to nominate their favourite Lunch Spots in the UK, whether it's a peaceful park, a place by the sea or a shady glade. Make sure you head to www.facebook.com/Kingsmill to submit your nomination quoting the code NTN and be in with a chance of winning even more prizes for the whole family!

Simply answer this question and send your answer to Kingsmill Competition, Champion Newspapers, Clare House, 166 Lord Street, Southport PR9 0QA to be in with a chance of winning:

When Rummy celebrated his 21st birthday party...

...in Lathom!

AHEAD of this weekend's Grand National, The Champion has uncovered photographs of Red Rum's 21st birthday party.

Held in the grounds of The Rookery at Hall Lane in Lathom, a crowd of guests and celebrities turned up to toast the champion's birthday in 1986.

Music for the party was supplied by the DJ at the time, the Champion's Ron Ellis.

Ron also played in Blackpool when Red Rum switched on the Illuminations in 1977.

Cards from well–wishers decorated the sides of the marquee and there was an address book for guests to sign.

Two cakes were donated by Memory Lane Cakes Ltd and Spillers Horse Feeds. One, an oat–based confection shaped like a horseshoe with carrots replacing the candles, was presented to Red Rum by Ginger McCain. The horse devoured it in seconds.

Red Rum was well known for his socialising and was a regular at the Carlton Pub on Lord Street, which was formerly the Red Rum bar.

Birch Green Care Home

Catherine Shawarby receives her award

Activities are fun at Birch Green

An active, full life at Birch Green Care Home

Life at Birch Green Care Home is never dull. Indeed, the range of lifestyle activities is designed to keep everyone engaged.

Dedicated, highly skilled staff provide award-winning, person-centred care & support services for adults and older people with a wide range of needs.

This includes nursing care, social or 'residential' care, respite care, specialist care for people with dementia and dedicated care for people with complex healthcare requirements.

Award-winning

Only recently, Birch Green scooped a top award at Lancashire County Council-run Central Lancashire's Got Talent event, winning the Partnership award, a Highly Commended in the Community Award and a Highly Commended in the Personalisation Award.

Last year, Birch Green's general manager Catherine Shawarby walked away with the Care Manager award at the annual National Care Awards, beating top care organisations and businesses in the country.

And Birch Green has been named a 'solid gold' home by The Gold Standards Framework (GSF), one of the UK's leading care quality organisations setting out best practice for caring for people approaching the end of their lives – a 'gold standard of care.'

Meanwhile, the inspiring, engaging activities at Birch Green provides a full calendar for its residents.

Already this year, there have been activities featuring a display looking back at 2012, pancake tossing, friendship, a special Valentine's Day date for our couples and Fairtrade Fortnight featuring food tasting.

Healthy eating

The activities complement the expert development of care focused around people's lifestyle choices and identified needs. The innovative Lifestyle Support Team work with residents and their families to empower them to make choices and participate in reviewing what's working and planning to develop new initiatives.

To this end, Birch Green has appointed a dementia champion to lead therapies which focus on reducing medication, with staff member Liz Johnson leading the nine month FITS (Focused Intervention Training and Support) project run in conjunction with the University of Worcester and the Alzheimer's Society.

Meanwhile, experienced carer Janette Holt is taking healthy eating to new levels, becoming Birch Green's own nutrition advocate, as a dedicated service for people with dementia.

Birch Green Care Home has been an established part of the local community for over 20 years. Proud of its past, confident of its future, Birch Green provides the very best, personal care possible for adults and older people in a modern, active environment.

Grant joy for gallery

Report by Henry James

Lottery cash will help boost creative events programme

STAFF at The Chapel Gallery in Ormskirk are aiming to put on an 'explosion of creativity' with the help of a £9,000 National Lottery grant from the Arts Council of England.

West Lancs Council says that the successful funding application will help bring about an "exciting creative events programme" to the town centre over the coming months.

These will be led by artist Angie Thompson whose work will focus on the heritage of Ormskirk and opportunities for development.

From April, groups will be working with professional artists through the gallery to learn new skills and create their own work. These are Learning Stars, which is a group of adults with learning difficulties and West Lancashire Community High pupils.

The Chapel Gallery will be working with people with visual impairments from Galloway's West Lancashire to increase their access to arts and culture.

These projects will begin in April and provide great opportunities for all those who participate to learn new skills and create their own work. All the work created will go on display in the gallery at a later date.

Councillor David Sudworth, portfolio holder for leisure, said: "We are very pleased to have received this National Lottery grant from the Arts Council of England which will help us organise some great new events."

There is to be a 'Re Imagine Your High Street' event on Saturday, April 13. To take part, meet at the Chapel Gallery at 10.30am for the morning session and 1.30pm for the afternoon session.

To find out more visit the Chapel Gallery and meet the artists in action including Angie Thompson. She is currently drawing images of market traders and local business people.

The council–run gallery currently has three artists in residence who will be there until April 27.

Julie James Turner, who works with textiles, Angie Thompson and Louise Wood, who works in 3D ceramics, are all displaying their work as part of the Making It Two exhibition. They will be available to discuss their work with visitors to the gallery.

Chance to see acclaimed Chinese guitarist in concert

MUSIC lovers are being given the chance to see a performance by an acclaimed Chinese guitarist when she plays at a concert in West Lancashire next week.

Organisers of the Douglas Music initiative, which holds a series of musical performances at the village hall in Parbold, said their next guest will be classical guitarist Xuefei Yang, who will be on stage from 7.45pm on Saturday, April 6.

A spokesman for Douglas Music said this week: "Fei enjoys a truly international career, performing worldwide as a soloist, and with leading orchestras. She has collaborated with Sir James Galway and after Parbold, in the next two months, she travels to perform in Italy, Atlanta & Minneapolis in the US, then Spain, and finally back to the UK where she is now based.

"She is a musical pioneer. Born in Beijing, she was the first–ever guitarist in China to enter Beijing's Central Conservatoire of Music, and became the first Chinese guitarist to launch an international professional career."

Admission to the concert costs £15, or £5 for young people and students. For further information and tickets, call either 01257 498452 or 01257 462382.

Citizens Advice Bureau re–opens in borough

Report by Henry James

RESIDENTS in West Lancs needing free, impartial advice on money matters, legal and other problems, now have a 'friend' to turn to following the re–opening of a Citizens Advice Bureau in the borough.

Mayor of West Lancashire, Councillor Paul Greenall officially opened the new bureau in Skelmersdale's Concourse Shopping Centre, declaring it a valuable new asset for local people.

The borough had its own bureau until it closed in 2011 and the new one has been created as part of the Lancs West CAB, which also serves Chorley, South Ribble and Wyre – nearly half a million people in total.

John Taylor, chair of Lancs West CAB Trustees, said: "It is a great pleasure to be able to offer the local people the same valuable service that is already benefiting so many in neighbouring districts.

"We know there is a great demand for advice on a whole range of issues and, with the government's current changes in the welfare system, we are expecting more calls than ever in the next few weeks."

Cllr Greenall added: "I am very honoured to be asked to officially open the new Lancashire West CAB. I have taken a good look around the bureau and been very impressed by the hard–working staff and volunteers here."

Chairman of West Lancs Citizens Advice Bureau Trustees, John Taylor with mayor and mayoress, Councillor Paul and Mrs Louise Greenall who opened the new CAB facility in Skelmersdale. Code1057566

And Cllr David Sudworth, the borough council portfolio holder for health, leisure and community safety, said: "I am delighted the council has been able to give funding to the new Lancashire West CAB. The new bureau will provide vital services for the people of West Lancashire and I understand staff and volunteers have already been extremely busy helping clients."

The mayor chatted with volunteers and staff, who explained how the bureau operates and how they use the CAB's national resources to access the correct advice on a whole range of issues.

Officials at the bureau said it is, "now fully operational and has already given free, confidential and impartial advice to many local people on problems including debt, welfare, housing and legal issues."

The bureau is open each Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9.30am to 4pm or you can call on 01695 716926 Monday to Friday, 9am to 5pm.

WIN a great day out at the Albert dock

THE Albert Dock in Liverpool has launched some egg–citing activities and offers for the whole family to enjoy over the Easter holidays and our readers are in with a chance to win a family day out.

To April 15, the Dock will be bustling in celebration of all things Easter, chocolate eggs and spring.

They are hosting an 'Albert Dock Easter Egg Hunt' where kids pick up a clue sheet from the Visitor Information Centre and then hunt for colourful, Easter–themed baskets of chocolate eggs that are hidden in 10 venues around the dock.

Once they locate a basket, they are rewarded with a handful of chocolate eggs.

And the Tate Liverpool are inviting visitors to create different looks and personas in an exciting costume–making workshop with artist, Sarah Marsh.

Sarah will also help you to experiment with geometric body stencils using body paint and glitter. A camera and projector will also be set up in the studio for you to flaunt your 70's style.

The Beatles Story with Stand Up Beatles are also offering a chance to get creative where you get to create your very own stand–up Beatles character.

Easter at Albert Dock

Jeremy Roberts, Chairman of the Albert Dock Tenants Business Association, said: "Easter is always a great time to visit Albert Dock. We have plenty of things going on for the whole family to enjoy during the holiday. Spring is in the air and hopefully it will bring the sunshine as well."

And they are giving one family from Ormskirk the chance to win a meal for a family of four at PanAm as well as a family of four ticket to The Beatles Story.

All you have to do it answer the following question:

Which artist will be helping visitors recreate a 1970's persona at the Tate Liverpool.

Send your answers to 'Editorial Albert Dock Competition' Clare House, 166 Lord Street, Southport, PR9 0QA.

Entries must be received by 12pm on Monday, April 8.

Terms and conditions apply. Prize must be taken by August 22, 2013, is not transferable and is subject to availability.

Children have a right to a mother

Re: Marriage is Irrelevant to a Decent Upbringing letter, Champion, March 20.

The vast majority of the population of Britain, including myself, feel that top of the list of human rights should be the right of every child to have a mother, as nature, not ideology intended, and to experience the love and affection that only a mother can give.

Unfortunately the social engineering being carried by a tiny minority and supported by individuals like the letter writer, is now removing the right of children, in certain circumstances, to have a mother.

This is nothing short of criminal action against the child and against nature.

Community was ignored over Walkers wind turbine proposal

I am writing to express my uttermost disgust at the decision of the bureaucrats to allow the erection a 125metre wind turbine on the site of Walkers crisps in Skelmersdale.

When local residents first heard about this project we pulled together as a community to express our thoughts and feelings and the impact it would have if it went ahead.

On the night of the hearing in the council offices the community were well represented and three people were allowed to express their feelings on behalf of the community.

All but one councillor in that room voted against the monstrosity being erected.

Around 720 letters of objection had been received and a booklet containing hundreds of pages of scientific evidence of the dangers to people's health etc was presented.

These bureaucrats, who know nothing about the people of Skelmersdale and care nothing about them, are allowed to overturn this decision.

They visited the Walkers site and didn't bother to speak to the local residents.

Sheila Horridge,
Disillusioned resident.

Good for the environment

Well done to the planners on the Walkers wind turbine decision.

Someone has seen sense. They don't look ugly like electricity pylons. They are good for the environment, and as for noise, the M58 can be just as noisy.

Decision to close the school not taken lightly

Re: School should have showed Common Sense and Stayed Open letter.

I imagine that every headteacher in the country had seen the weather forecast on Thursday, March 21 and realised they would have a decision to make on the Friday morning.

I was in school by 7am that morning. At that point the snow was falling heavily and the BBC forecast was for this to continue until 1pm, followed by lighter snow for the remainder of the day.

Five of my staff had already phoned school to say that they were unable to come into school because of transport difficulties (they were travelling from the Wirral where the snow had been considerably worse overnight) or because their own child's school had closed unexpectedly.

I was unable to cover their classes and would have had to supervise a large group of students in the school hall.

My site staff were clearing and gritting paths, but the snow was covering them as fast as they could clear.

The ground was extremely treacherous. I was keenly aware of the difficulties I could give if I opened the school, forced everyone to come in through poor and potentially dangerous conditions, and then closed it again two hours or so later.

Following consultation with my chair of governors I took the decision to close the school.

That seemed the most sensible course of action at the time.

It might interest your correspondent to know that in January, Ormskirk School was the only West Lancashire secondary school to remain open in similar conditions and that only one parent has contacted me about the decision to close last Friday.

It was not a decision that was taken lightly.

In similar circumstances in future I would do exactly the same.

John Doyle,
Headteacher, Ormskirk School.

So grateful for help after fall

Through the goodwill of the Champion I wish to thank all who came to my aid when I fell on Lord Street in Southport on February 28.

Thank you to the ambulance paramedics who attended to me.

Thank you to the doctor and nurse for their good care to me and A&E in Southport Hospital.

Also, thanks to all the kind people who helped me at the place of my fall.

I am very grateful.

Winifred Mayor,
Scarisbrick

Let's vote for Jim Sharpe to help us get our values back on track!

I look forward to my favourite paper The Champion every week and one of the articles I enjoy reading is 'One Man and his Dog,' by Jim Sharpe.

This man talks so much sense and speaks for us all, especially the older readers like myself who were children at the end of the last war.

We didn't expect anything for nothing and we were glad to go to work.

We got married first, had our children, helped them to a better education, bought our own homes and saved for retirement (if we reached it). Now this Government and councillors can't think of enough ways and excuses to take everything off us that give us a better life or gives us small pleasures, for example, now our libraries.

We have our vote to use. Next time let us vote for Jim to represent us.

I for one would give him all the help to get started, having had 30 years in a business I built from scratch and little money.

Let us get our values back on track along with our local newspaper and make it a world we want to live in before everyone leaves to emigrate.

We are a lost generation.

Ms McAsey, Southport.

Headteacher of Marshside Primary School Katharine Hall with pupils Rianna, Matthew, Tayla and George.

School is 'back on track' says Ofsted

A SOUTHPORT primary school has been praised by Ofsted inspectors a year after it was warned to improve.

Marshside Primary School was judged to be struggling early last year, but returning inspectors declared that the school, now under a new senior leadership team, is 'back on track.'

Headteacher Katharine Hall said: "We are pleased with Ofsted's recognition of our progress over the last 12 months and for their confirmation that we are heading in the right direction.

"This inspection report paves the way for further improvement.

"We are under no illusions about the task still facing Marshside to ensure consistently high achievement by our pupils.

"Children, staff, parents and governors are working incredibly hard. We are committed to achieving the best possible outcome for our pupils."

The latest Ofsted report says: "Good leadership and management, spearheaded by the headteacher, have been central to the school getting back on track and out of a category of concern.

"Much has been accomplished to turn things around and get the school back to this point."

See which way the wind blows before closing power stations

A FORTNIGHT ago we lost two of our remaining coal fired power stations – victims of an EU pollution directive.

At the same time some Government wonk named Ed Davey (so–called Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change) announced a mish–mash of new 'initiatives' which, he claimed, would by some alchemy result in us being better off despite adding £300 to the average family fuel bill by 2020.

In fact he managed to pinpoint this to exactly £166 a year – which considering no–one can even tell us what the weather will be like next week is really going some.

And on April 1, the fools who run this country are to impose a new 'carbon tax' on the coal fired power plants that linger on effectively to double their cost of production and make the silly wind farms look almost cheap – which they are not.

Add to this that the headlong 'dash for gas' forty years ago has blown up spectacularly – and again expensively – in our faces and you might just think that our blinkered politicians are being just a tad silly.

Even green Germany has plans to build – yes, build – 20 new coal fired power stations to ensure their lights and cookers don't go out at the same time as ours, while China and India plan hundreds of the things and you can see where I am heading.

And it's all being done in an attempt to 'Save the Planet' – though I wonder which planet these people are on – Zog, perhaps.

And all this is based on computer predictions. You know, the same ones that a few years ago reckoned we were heading for a new Ice Age.

But they abandoned their ice sledge for a passing Global Warming bandwagon that happened to be passing.

And now that the wheels are rapidly falling off that one, they have joined the queue for the catch–all Climate Change roller coaster.

I have no idea whether the climate truly is changing – though I suspect it is.

But personally I would like to see exactly what the next decade brings before deciding in which direction the wind really is blowing, so to speak, before deciding what to do about it.

I'm all for green technologies that will save us money and at the same time cut pollution.

If the unhappy Mr Davey would like to introduce all his shiny new measures to save energy and energy bills – without the draconian threats and additional 'green taxes' and certainly without the windmills on a grand scale – then good.

I know I have been accused of being silly – and worse – for my views on this subject.

But if it is silly to hope to be able to afford to heat and light and to cook in my own home, then I'm proud to be silly.

But if those views are silly, then what adjective could any sane person attach to a herd of donkeys who are blindly leading this country into having the highest fuel bills in Europe.

Unfortunately for the sandal wearing brigade, the wind doesn't blow and the sun doesn't shine all the time, no matter how much the climate changes.

Busy times ahead for advice bureau

Report by Henry James

Staff geared up for flood of enquiries as changes to benefit system start to kick in

STAFF and volunteers at West Lancs' newly re–opened Citizens Advice Bureau are preparing for floods of enquiries when the government's welfare and benefits reforms start to kick in this month.

Workers have undergone extra training on the changes, which are said to be the biggest in at least a generation, and they are preparing to handle an expected upturn in calls from concerned recipients about how they may be affected.

Diane Gradwell, district manager for Lancashire West CAB, said: "The government and local authorities are doing all they can to inform people about the changes but many may still be unsure and turn to the CAB for advice.

"The changes are far–reaching and it is natural that many recipients may be unsure about their effects. Our staff and volunteers are all fully trained to advise on these and many other issues and we will be happy to help wherever we can."

Discussions

The biggest benefit change, Universal Credit, will not take effect in Lancashire until October, but with extensive media coverage expected, some recipients may still worry.

Similarly, Personal Independence Payment, which replaces Disability Living Allowance, will kick in for new claims in April but may not affect others until later.

Among other changes, responsibility for what is now the council tax benefit will be passed to the local authorities individually and each may operate this differently. Also, community care grants and crisis loans that are effected by changes in Social Fund will be handed over from the DWP to Lancashire County Council.

Diane Gradwell added: "We are in detailed discussions with the county and local authorities about how people in each area may be affected. Recipients should contact the authority first of course but we will gladly help if they have any further problems."

Anyone living in West Lancashire can talk in confidence to a trained CAB assessor via one central phone number, 01772 424282 or call in at the new centre in Skelmersdale.

Lancashire West CAB is an independent Registered Charity serving nearly half a million residents of those four districts, operating with nearly 30 paid staff and more than 80 volunteers. Some are full–time or part–time but all are fully trained and the organisation is independently audited to uphold predetermined standards.

West Lancs mayor receives Diamond Jubilee sculpture

A SCULPTURE commissioned to honour the Queen's Diamond Jubilee has been presented to the Mayor of West Lancashire, Councillor Paul Greenall.

A sculpture of Queen Elizabeth II was commissioned last year by Lancashire County Council, along with 12 others – one for each district council across the county. These were officially handed over to councils during an event hosted by the chairman of Lancashire County Council, John Shedwick.

The official presentations were made by the leader of the county council, Geoff Driver, to the mayors and mayoresses from each district council.

Delivery of the sculptures will be taking place over the next few weeks. The overall aim is that the sculptures will then go on public display at town halls across Lancashire.

County Councillor Driver, said: "We're pleased that every district council within Lancashire will have a permanent sculpture to recognise the Queen's Diamond Jubilee. Lancashire has traditionally had strong links with the Queen, in her role as Duke of Lancaster."

The first bust has already taken pride of place on County Hall's committee floor, alongside the newly–restored bust of Queen Victoria, which was created in 1897 to commemorate her own Diamond Jubilee.

The commission was carried out by local artist Peter Hodgkinson, whose previous works include the Splash statue of Sir Tom Finney at Preston North End, and a life–size bronze statue of LS Lowry in Manchester.

Don't miss out on your chance to have a say

THE borough council has sent a reminder to residents not to lose their chance to vote in the elections on Thursday, May 2.

On that day there are elections for Lancashire County Council and for the Digmoor Ward in Skelmersdale on West Lancs Borough Council.

Gill Rowe, the Electoral Registration officer, said: "Thursday, May 2 is the chance for residents to have their say at the local elections. We want everyone eligible to vote to be able to do so.

"Anyone who has moved house in the past few months needs to register with their new address.

"We're also keen for anyone turning 18 on or before May 2 to make sure they are registered, so they can vote for the first time."

The deadline to register is Wednesday, April 17 .

Call 01695 585018 to order a registration form, or you can print one off from www.aboutmyvote.co.uk or www.westlancs.gov.uk/elections.

The deadline to apply for a postal vote and for changes to existing proxy votes is also Wednesday, April 17.

The deadline for new applications to vote by proxy is Wednesday, April 24, except for medical emergencies. A proxy vote is where someone nominates another person to vote for them.

Sky–high lesson on offer to schools

THERE'S still time for West Lancs headteachers to nominate their schools for a lesson with a difference – courtesy of budget airline, Monarch.

The company is looking to give Year 7 to Year 9 pupils from three school across the North West a chance to take part in the special learning experience on Wednesday, April 24.

Jetting off from Manchester Airport, the lucky youngsters will enjoy a Shakespeare–inspired flight to learn the real story of Romeo and Juliet in Verona, complemented by an acting lesson during the flight.

Kevin George, managing director of Monarch Airlines, said: "All schools that enter the competition will be considered and we are looking forward to receiving lots of entries."

Headteachers can nominate their schools at www.monarch.co.uk/offers/flights /win–the–best–day–trip–ever – but hurry, the closing date for entries is Friday, April 5!

Don't be blind to danger of blinds. . .

Report by Ollie Cowan

PARENTS across West Lancashire are being urged to be aware of the dangers of leaving chains and cords within the reach of young children.

The British Blind and Shutter Association (BBSA) used the Easter school holidays as an ideal time raise awareness of leaving window blind cords or chains within reach of young children.

According to the Royal Society for the Prevention of Accidents, in the last 13 years 25 children, most of them under the age of three, have tragically died after becoming accidently entangled in window blind cords or chains.

The BBSA's 'Make It Safe' campaign urges parents, grandparents and carers to examine every blind in the home, especially in children's bedrooms.

If any have a looped control chain or cord then make sure there is a safety device to keep the cord or chain securely tidied away out of the reach of babies and young children.

These safety devices are of a low–cost and are easy to retrofit, so you do not have to wait until you replace a blind to improve its safety.

The campaign is supported by mother–of–three Rachael Maynard.

In 2011 Rachel's life was turned upside down when her young daughter Megan, almost died after becoming entangled in a window blind cord while playing in her bedroom.

Rachael said: "It was every parent's worst nightmare.

"I left Megan happily playing in her bedroom and when I went back to check on her, I found her hanging from the window blind cord. She had stopped breathing altogether.

"Megan spent four days in hospital on a life support machine before we knew she was going to recover."

For more information, tips and advice on how to improve safety of your window blinds visit www.makeitsafe.org.uk

Helpers needed for Fells project

ORGANISERS of a project set up to combat wear and tear caused by millions of walkers on the Lake District's upland paths are appealing for West Lancs residents to get involved.

Fix the Fells is looking for volunteers to help with a variety of tasks, ranging from surveying to maintenance and repairs to monitoring and landscaping.

Lake District National Park Authority volunteer co–ordinator, Tim Duckmanton said it was a brilliant opportunity for people to get fit, be sociable and put something back into the area's world–famous hills.

He said: "This beats the gym any day. Our lengthsmen volunteers have a fantastic, free, fitness regime in spectacular locations and do invaluable work into the bargain. The aim is to repair and avert damage to our often fragile paths, where erosion is a particular and long–running problem. Our volunteers make a huge difference to the fells.

"We ask that volunteers work a minimum of 12 days a year, but after that, times are flexible and people can give as much time as they like."

Anyone interested in volunteering can contact Tim Duckmanton on 01539 792674 or email tim.duckmanton@lakedistrict.gov.uk

Retuning alert to Freeview watchers in borough

Report by
Stephanie O'Connor

Channels set to move frequencies on April 10

FREEVIEW viewers across the borough will need to retune their TV equipment on Wednesday, April 10 as local airwaves are cleared for the roll–out of faster mobile broadband.

Changes at the transmitters serving Lancashire, Liverpool, Manchester, Cheshire and North Staffordshire will free up frequencies to enable the future launch of fourth–generation mobile services.

Around three million homes in the North West will be affected.

TV services will be subject to disruption from midnight as some channels – including BBC 1, ITV 1, Channel 4, Channel 5 and Dave – are moved to new frequencies.

Choice

Work at the main Winter Hill and Saddleworth transmitters is expected to be completed by 6am and viewers can retune at any point after this.

Services at other local transmitters may be off–air until late afternoon.

Once these resume, anyone missing channels should retune their TV or digital box to get them back.

Some homes can receive signals from transmitters in both England and Wales, giving them a choice of regional or national services.

These viewers may need to use the manual retune option on their equipment to bring preferred channels to the top of their programme guide.

David Scott, chief executive of Digital UK, said: "It's a good idea to retune your Freeview TV or box regularly to make sure your channel list is up to date. It usually only takes a few minutes but if anyone is unsure what to do, there's plenty of information available on our website or from our advice line team."

Viewers can check the TV services predicted to be available at their address both now and in the future by using the coverage checker at digitaluk.co.uk

Don't buy pets as presents, says RSPCA

ALTHOUGH the recent Easter holidays may have prompted visions of fluffy bunnies, the RSPCA is urging people not to buy pets as presents.

Rachel Roxburgh, who works for the charity, says pet–buyers need to consider the long–term needs of rabbits and other animals that they take home.

Easter is synonymous with fluffy bunnies and some people even consider buying a rabbit as a gift around this time of year.

Despite being hugely popular pets, the needs of rabbits are commonly misunderstood, leading to many rabbits suffering and not having a good quality of life.

Rachel said that at the RSPCA they see the consequences of thousands of pets being bought without the buyer first looking into whether they can meet the specific needs of those animals, leading to abandonments or people expecting animal charities to pick up the pieces when they decide they can no longer look after them.

She said: "Anyone thinking of getting rabbits should first carefully decide whether they have the time, money and space to look after these animals properly for the whole of their lives.

"They are not easy pets to keep, as they have complex welfare needs which must be met in order for them to live happy, healthy lives."

Runners urged to sign up for fourth Belle Vue House 10k

ORGANISERS of an annual fun run to raise money for children with autism are urging runners of all abilities to join in the fun.

The Belle Vue House 10k is a one–lap course over university fields and grounds, roads, rural lanes, footpaths and tracks, starting and finishing at Sporting Edge at Edge Hill University, St Helens Road.

This year's race, on Sunday, April 28th, will be the fourth held by Belle Vue House, an assessment and development centre for children with communication difficuties and specilising in autism spectrum disorders.

Jude Brown, head of Belle Vue House, said: "We are delighted to be organising such a worthwhile event that is not only raising awareness of autism but is helping to raise money for a charity that does such excellent work in helping those with autism."

All proceeds from the event will be donated to the National Autistic Society.

You can now register for this race, supported by the O2 shop in Ormskirk, at www.bellevuehouse.org.uk.

Grant boost for county's voluntary groups

Report by
Danielle Thompson

THE Hope House Project in Skelmersdale is among voluntary groups in Lancashire awarded county council grants totalling more than £110,000.

The grants are used to support voluntary, community and faith groups for 13 to 19–year–olds.

Groups providing services for disabled people up to the age of 25 have also been funded.

The Hope House Project plans to spend the money on three laptops for the centre, internet usage and games and to pay for NLP4 Young People's Training.

Their grant application summary states: "Training to NLP (Neuro Linguistic Programming) will help our young people a lot with stressful areas of their lives.

"This training is very much needed because we take weekly lunch sessions in one of the high schools and the amount of bullying we encounter is huge.

Passion

"Better and stronger children and young people are raised with a different view of life knowing that the Young People's Service is helping them and hopefully they will be better citizens and more appreciative of government institutions.

"The health benefit will be stronger, agile, brighter young people with passion to succeed as they will now feel better about themselves and it should raise their attainment as well and desire to succeed in life.

Helping hand for Hope House Project

"The need to use this skill from the NLP training is immense.

"The funding is impacting lives and transforming communities in a big way by supporting events and projects like ours."

Photography groups in Preston, a YMCA on the Fylde Coast, Lancashire School Sailing Association and youth organisations in Ribble Valley and Rossendale are some of the other groups to be given funding.

Grants were handed out in each district and local youth councils made decisions about which applications should be approved.

County Councillor Mark Perks, cabinet member for young people, said: "These groups give young people across the county the chance to take part in a range of activities from photography and youth group activities to equipment to help young people take part in the Duke of Edinburgh's Award.

"We wanted young people to have a say in the services provided in their area, which is why we asked youth councils to decide which applications to approve.

"The projects will make an important contribution to each area and I'm pleased the groups and individual young people now have the funding they need to take them forward."

Ace prize up for grabs

Chance for golfers to win a luxury watch

IT may not feel like it – with snow and icy winds still featuring in the TV weather bulletins – but summer's on the way and for many thoughts turn to fairways, greens and the chance of recording a coveted hole in one.

Now keen golfers in Sefton who record that elusive 'ace' can win themselves a luxury watch, courtesy of a luxury fashion and style house.

Hugo Boss has manufactured a specially–commissioned, limited–edition timepiece for any golfer lucky enough – or skilful enough –to record a verified hole–in–one between April 15 and October 31 this year. Winners will also receive membership of the exclusive Boss Watches H1 Club, launched in association with the Daily Telegraph and HowDidiDo, a web–based social network for golfers.

Around 1,800 UK golf clubs currently use HowDidiDo and anybody playing in official competitions at one of these will be eligible.

Stephen Brydon, UK sales and marketing director for MGS Distribution, the official licenced UK distributor for Boss Watches, explained: "To the majority of amateur golfers recording a hole–in–one will be the most memorable thing they achieve in golf – yet all many have to show for it is a dent in their bank balance after buying a round of drinks in the clubhouse.

"We aim to make it a lot more memorable for them by presenting them with an exclusive watch, available only to golfers who record a hole–in–one. It will provide a constant reminder of the sight of their ball popping into the hole."

No registration is required to participate in the promotion as all official club competitions are recorded on the HowDidiDo system, so holes–in–one will be noted and automatically ratified by the golfer's club.

The Hugo Boss watch you could win if you record an ace Code NA

HOLE–IN–ONE FACTS

• Actuaries at companies which insure against holes–in–one, known as prize indemnification, have calculated the chance of an average amateur golfer making a hole–in–one at approximately 12,500 to 1. Yet nearly 4,000 aces were recorded in the UK during 2011.

• The odds of a professional golfer making a hole–in–one on a par–three are around 2,500 to 1.

• The chance of a golfer making aces on consecutive par–three holes has been quoted at 156,250,000 to 1 – the chances of winning the National Lottery are a mere 14 million to 1!

• The oldest golfer known to have made a hole–in–one is 102–year–old Elsie McLean who holed out with a driver on the 100–yard fourth hole at Bidwell Park, in Chico, California, in 2007.

• In July 2012, two amateur golfers defied odds of 17 million to 1 by scoring holes–in–one on the same hole while playing in the same foursome, at the Portland Country Club, Maine.

County in call for volunteers

Report by Danielle Thompson

LANCASHIRE County Council is urging people to come forward as volunteers to help isolated, vulnerable people.

The county's Volunteer Service wants people to think about helping someone else by giving up just a few hours of their time.

Supporting someone can be as simple as a weekly visit for a cup of tea and a chat, or trips out of their home such as going walking or swimming, or a visit to the local library.

A spokesman for the Volunteer Service, said: "There are various reasons why people can become vulnerable – such as social isolation, mental or physical health problems, or because they're the main carer for a friend or relative.

"This can lead to practical difficulties, such as getting out–and–about or carers having time for themselves; as well as bringing about other challenges such as low confidence and reduced social contact.

"That's where volunteers can help – by offering the support of a friendly face and a regular routine to help boost physical and mental health and to relieve some of the pressure felt by families and unpaid carers."

The spokesman suggested that it can be a rewarding and worthwhile way to spend free time.

He said: "Befriending someone in your local community helps them to get more out of life and it could change your life too."

Could you be a friend to a vulnerable or isolated person?

Rachael, who became a volunteer in Lancashire in memory of her grandparents, has been visiting Harry for five months.

She wanted to let others know that they have someone who is there for them and has found that visiting Harry has brought her more than she expected. She said: "I love doing it and it's rewarding."

For Harry's son Ron, his unpaid carer, her weekly two–hour visits have brought peace of mind to both of them.

He said: "It has been wonderful – dad really loves it. It's a different voice and a different ear, also talking about something different."

The Volunteer Service takes care to match volunteers with their partners, so both parties can get the most out of the experience.

If you would like to know more about volunteering support or you are interested in becoming a volunteer, call the Volunteer Service on 01257 516 035, visit www.lancashire.gov.uk/volunteer or email volunteer.services@lancashire.gov.uk

i-lipo

is the latest in laser lipolysis, offering you a way to achieve inch loss and body contouring with no pain, no needles and no down time.

The i-lipo uses a low level of visible red laser light to stimulate the body's natural processes that empty the stored fat contents inside fat cells.
The laser light absorbs into individual fat cells in the treatment area, temporarily opening pores in the cell walls through which the cell contents can escape. This does not affect the neighbouring structure such as skin, blood vessels and peripheral nerves. The contents of the cells are collected by the lymphatic system and transported to the areas of the body where they can be metabolised into energy during exercise. This metabolism of the contents permanently removes them from the body leaving smaller fat cells and giving you inch loss.

999 text message service launched

Report by Danielle Thompson

IN an emergency you can now text 999 for help.

The police service in Lancashire has re–launched the messaging service under the famous emergency number to contact the police, ambulance, fire and rescue or coastguard if you cannot make a voice call.

Although aimed primarily at people who are deaf, hard of hearing or have a speech problem, the service can be used by anyone who cannot make a voice call for any reason.

However, you have to be registered to use the service and police are urging people to register now so they can use it immediately when it is needed.

Lives saved

Chief Superintendent and Diversity Champion Bob Eastwood said: "It's important that everybody across Lancashire can contact the police in an emergency.

"Since we started the SMS service in 2009 hundreds of real emergencies have been successfully handled.

"Criminals have been arrested, lives have been saved and babies have been born safely.

"The 999 number is much easier for people to remember which is vital in an emergency.

"If anybody thinks they may need to use the service in the future they must remember to register beforehand, it takes two minutes but could make a real difference.

"However, I would remind people that this should only be used in a real emergency."

To register, simply type the word 'register' to 999, you will then get a reply, then follow the instructions you are sent.

People are advised to follow the following format when sending an emergency SMS:

Who is injured; what service is required; briefly, what is the problem and where, preferably the name of the road, house number, postcode or nearby landmark if possible.

After the first text message is sent the emergency service will either ask for more information or it will tell you that help is on the way.

The service works throughout the UK on all mobile networks, but cannot be used from abroad.

Since September 2009, the emergency SMS service has been available to people across the county who are deaf, hard of hearing or who have a speech problem, using a number unique to Lancashire Constabulary but now you can text the national '999' number. The old Lancashire number is no longer in use.

Parbold group to stage mystery farce at WI

Report by Henry James

PARBOLD'S Douglas Drama Group has announced their Spring production is to be The Murder Room by Jack Sharkey.

The performances will be staged over three consecutive nights, April 25, 26 and 27 at Parbold WI.

The Murder Room is a mystery farce about newly–weds Edgar and Mavis. Two days after the couple's wedding, Edgar finds out that Mavis is being unfaithful. The plot continues from there.

A spokesman for Parbold Douglas Drama Group said: "There's a murder, there's a room – it does exactly what it says on the tin. It's as simple as that. Or is it? It's never simple when an older man takes on a young wife. Throw in an heiress, an American, two policemen, a housekeeper, a bicycle and a dead cat, although not all at the same time, and you'll get the general gist. Another three nights of rip–roaring fun and intrigue."

Doors open at 7pm and the curtain is up at 7.30pm.

Tickets are available from the DIY Centre, Parbold and from Parbold Fruit and Veg.

Parbold Douglas Drama Group is an amateur dramatic group, based in Parbold, performing two productions per year in local venues.

Looking back... Red Rum in his heyday

Champion

PHOTOGRAPHS by Derek Holden

Red Rum clears the low fence of the waterjump at Wetherby.

John McKelvie (Steward Hesketh Golf Club), Sue Cuff (Miss Great Britain), Lisa Holden, Red Rum and Billy Beardwood.

Always the most popular picture of Red Rum because it demonstrates the happy carefree demeanour of the horse; it is also a pleasing pictorial composition and adorns many living rooms.

Red Rum poses in Hyde Park at the launch of Christine Pemberton's book, Born to Win.

Ginger McCain the jovial trainer, pictured in the Aughton Road stableyard after Red Rum's third Grand National victory.

After Red Rum's third Grand National Victory in 1977. Jockey Tommy Stack, Red Rum and Ginger McCain in the Aughton Road, stable yard in Southport.

One of the three most popular pictures of this fine horse; the proud head, the alert ears, the observant eyes, all combine to suggest Red Rum's true character.

As a publicity stunt for the car, a race was arranged along the Southport beach but due to some technical difficulty the TR7 failed to start.

Red Rum never fell but he was brought down once at Catterick. This day he almost fell, in the Greenall Whitley Breweries Chase at Haydock.

With flying hooves barely touching the ground Red Rum shows his speed along the sands.

Land aquired by Bellway Homes in Litherland

Bellway Homes is pleased to announce its most recent land acquisition on Spooner Avenue in Litherland.

The six acre site will form a fantastic new development for the housebuilder, which has been named Church Fields.

Church Fields will comprise a total of 88 properties, including a stylish selection of three bedroom semi detached homes and three and four bedroom detached homes, appealing to families in particular.

Build has commenced at the development, with Bellway Homes hoping to be on site late Spring with the opening of two stunning show homes.

Situated in a sought-after residential area, Church Fields is the first site in Litherland for the award-winning housebuilder, with the exclusive development enhancing Bellway's expansive development portfolio in Merseyside.

Offering a range of desirable house types, a number of properties have been released for sale early with pre-show home opening prices, including three bedroom semi detached, known as the Rufford, priced £153,995.

A selection of three bedroom detached house types, the Lansdown and Weston, are also available with prices starting from £179,995, as well as the Oakwood, a four bedroom detached home, priced from £194,995.

The release of these properties has been eagerly awaited by homebuyers in Crosby with three sales secured.

Jenny Bell, sales director designate at Bellway Homes, comments: "Church Fields is the latest land acquisition for Bellway Homes in Merseyside and we have been incredibly impressed with the initial levels of interest in the development.

"The next few months will be very exciting as build progresses and we work towards the opening of the show homes and having a presence on site."

For further information on Church Fields or to register your interest in properties, please contact Bellway Homes at Orrell Gardens on 0151 521 4885. Alternatively, please visit www.bellway.co.uk.

Two beautiful showhomes come to Crosby

Bellway Homes has opened the doors to two beautiful show homes at its highly desirable Hawthorn Park development on South Parade in Crosby.

Showcasing two different house types at the popular development, the show homes perfectly portray the properties built by Bellway Homes, with visitors suitably impressed with the style and space.

With families in mind, the four bedroom show homes feature different interior designs, each equally as inspiring and memorable.

Boasting a cool, contemporary decor, the four bedroom Oakwood show home will appeal to families looking for a stylish home in Crosby. Shades of grey are teamed with tones of blue to create a thoroughly fresh feel throughout the house.

The open-plan kitchen / diner is a superb space for everyday lives, forming the heart of the home. With French doors that open up into the rear garden and a practical utility room, the needs of modern families have certainly been catered for.

The lounge is a comfortable room which features two pale grey sofas adorned with charcoal grey and petrol blue scatter cushions a white gloss coffee table and a striking free-standing swinging-chair.

The colour theme continues upstairs where you will find the four bedrooms, including the impressive master bedroom with spacious en suite facilities, and the family bathroom.

The second show home, the four bedroom Keats house type, enjoys a bright and vibrant interior design, with a pretty pale grey palette mixed with splashes of fuchsia pink and lime green.

Contributing to the success of Hawthorn Park is its location, less than a mile from Crosby town centre offering an array of amenities and leisure attractions, such as the beach and its marina and picturesque parks.

The ideal development for families, Hawthorn Park is well placed with a selection of excellent schools and colleges close by, including Merchant Taylors' Schools, Great Crosby RC Primary School, Forefield Junior School and St Mary's College.

Jenny Bell, sales director designate at Bellway Homes, comments: "We are exceptionally impressed with the results of the stunning show homes at Hawthorn Park. The response we have received from visitors since the opening of the show homes has been very positive, with a series of sales secured at Hawthorn Park in recent weeks.

"The development has always proved popular due to its convenient location in Crosby, however the opening of the show homes will certainly add to its appeal."

There are a handful of three and four bedroom detached properties currently available at Hawthorn Park, with prices starting from £209,995.

For further information or to arrange a viewing of the show homes, please call 0151 928 8671 (open Monday and Friday from 10am until 5pm, Thursday from 10am until 7pm, Saturday and Sunday from 11am until 5pm). Alternatively, visit www.bellway.co.uk.

Hawthorn Park is situated in the sought-after town of Crosby. Well located offering excellent local amenities, easy access to the M57 and M58 motorways and just seven miles from Liverpool city centre, Hawthorn Park is well placed to suit all buyers.

PRAYER

DEAR SACRED HEART OF JESUS

42310

In the past I have asked for many favours. This time I ask for one special favour. (mention it)

Take it dear heart of Jesus and place it within your own broken heart where your Father sees it. Then in his merciful eyes it will become your favour, not mine.

Amen

Say this prayer for three days, promise publication and your favour will be granted. Never to be failed.

K.E.

PRAYER

HOLY SPIRIT

You, who make me see everything and show me the way to reach my ideals. You, who gave the Divine Gift to forgive and forget all that is done to me. I, in this short dialogue, want to thank You for everything and affirm once more that I never want to be separated from You no matter how great the material desires may be. I want to be with You and my loved ones in their perpetual glory. To that end, and submitting to God's Holy Will, I ask You (mention your request).

This prayer must be said for three consecutive days. After the third day the request will be granted no matter how difficult it may be. Promise to publish the entire dialogue as a condition of having your request granted.

M.E.

PRAYER

PRAYER TO THE BLESSED VIRGIN

Never known to fail.

O most beautiful flower of Mount Carmel, faithful Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate Virgin, assist me in this necessity, O Star of the Sea, help me and show me herein you are my Mother, O Holy Mary Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart to succour me in my necessity.

(Make Request).

There are none that can withstand your powers. Mary, conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to thee (3 Times).

Sweet Mother, I place this cause in your hands (3 times).

Thank you for your mercy towards me and mine. K.E.

Grateful thanks to the Sacred Heart and St Jude

This prayer must be said for three days and after that the request will be granted and the prayer must be published. 42293

Are you a Sales Executive or Account Manager looking for a new challenge?

Position: SALES EXECUTIVE - BURSCOUGH

At Face for Business, our business model is all about building long term customer relationships and offering our clients excellent customer service.

As an innovative provider of virtual PA / reception services, we are looking for tenacious and hard working telesales executives to join our business to business sales team. With a proven track record in telesales or account management, you will be responsible for generating new clients across different lines of business and market sectors. You will have a clear sales focus and good questioning techniques, enabling you to provide our clients with the correct solution for their business.

Working closely with the office P.A.s, you will help deliver a first class customer experience.

Are you?
- Good at building rapport?
- Skilled at asking questions and identifying opportunities?
- Mature and experienced when dealing with customers?
- Self motivated?
- Target driven?
- Ambitious?
- A good team player?

If so, we would like to hear from you. Please call Andy English on 07767 168470 or email andy.english@ffb.co.uk to find out more about this fantastic opportunity.

Package includes: Good Basic Salary with OTE £30,000, Uncapped Bonus Structure, Company Pension Scheme and good working conditions.

Champion MOTORS

Scrap motoring curfews – give youths a van to drive instead!

Life On Cars
DAVID SIMISTER
www.lifeoncars.blogspot.com

LOTS of people have been using this last week to call for even tougher restrictions on those pesky young drivers who keep passing their tests and then crashing.

Among the suggestions being bandied about by the bores–that–be are restricting them to cars as woefully underpowered as the one–litre Kia Picanto I tried the other day, banning them from venturing onto Britain's highways and byways once the sun goes down, and bringing in youth–specific drink–driving laws that'll land them in prison for twenty years if they're caught in the possession of wine gums.

In fact, the only sensible idea that hasn't come from someone who'd otherwise suggest reintroducing National Service is tougher, more plentiful driving lessons, and a harder driving test to match.

It's mad, for instance, that my newly–qualified mate can freely venture onto the M6 at rush hour, despite not having had a single lesson on motorway driving!

I, however, have found an even better way to encourage careful driving after moving house last week.

Insist everyone does their driving test – and all the lessons leading up to it – in a Ford Transit Luton van packed to the brim with their most prized possessions.

Driving something the size of a student flat is a little nerve–racking at the best of times, but knowing it's weighed down with your furniture, your DVDs, your carefully accumulated copies of Evo magazine and the IKEA bookcases you gingerly screwed together on an idle Sunday afternoon does tend to focus your mind on driving more carefully.

David used an enormous Luton van to move house last week. Code NA

The windy West Lancashire lanes I use to get to the motorway network – lanes I'd normally enjoy driving – were mildly terrifying, not only because a Luton van is so long and so wide, but because the cargo in the back is yours.

It also encourages you, thanks to its appetite for diesel, to go easy on the throttle, and if you can park one, you can park pretty much anything.

Make cocky, over–confident new drivers – like me not that long ago – do their lessons and tests in vans fully loaded with their prized personal belongings and they'll learn more about defensive driving and not taking risks than any 1950s–style motoring curfews.

You never know. There might even be a few less hot hatches wrapped around trees as a result

Two types of Clio on offer

IF YOU liked the news that there'll be two different twists on new Volkswagen's Golf GTI when it goes on sale then you'll be delighted to learn of a similar approach from Renault's riposte.

Like the German hot hatch contender, there will be two different versions of the new RenaultSport Clio 200 Turbo when it goes on sale in June – the EDC, which will cost £18,995, and the more lavishly–trimmed Lux, at £19,995.

A spokesperson for the French firm said: "Whichever version of Clio Renaultsport 200 Turbo buyers opt for, it'll fit into their daily lives effortlessly. The new model still packs 200hp, but it's better off to the tune of 25Nm greater torque, together with a healthy dose of it mid–range. It's also quicker from 0 to 62 mph, 0.2 seconds swifter to be precise, at 6.7.

"It won't be the main purchase reason for many buyers, but nevertheless, Clio Renaultsport's new five–door practicality is sure to appeal to many, particularly family buyers. One minute it's a swift commuter car, the next it's a B–road mile–eater."

The new RenaultSport Clio will available to order at dealerships across the UK on April 8.

Mercedes comes with £24k price tag

Report by David Simister

A BABY Benz which shrinks the sleek saloon style of the Mercedes CLS into a more affordable package will start at £24,355 when it goes on sale here later this year.

Mercedes–Benz said its new, front–wheel–drive CLA, which is closely related under the skin to the A–Class and B–Class models.

It otherwise mimics the look of the much larger CLS coupe, will be available with a choice of two trim levels, called Sport and AMG Sport, two suspension settings and the choice of either a 1.6 petrol or 2.1 litre diesel engine.

The range tops out with the CLA220 CDI AMG Sport version, which costs £31,555.

Linnets leave it late

Burscough 1 Ossett Town 1

AN 85th minute header by Louis Mayers rescued a point for Bursough in this Good Friday clash with Ossett Town.

In a game in which neither side really dominated, it was the visitors who pressed early on, Carl Stewart and Luke Sharry combining well for the former to test Horn on 14 minutes.

Burscough huffed and puffed throughout the first half with no real product.

The visitors went ahead four minutes after the break when Stewart set himself on the left and calmly stroked the ball past Horn. This seemed to fire up the home side who began to pile on the pressure and it finally told five minutes from time when Mayers headed home from a Jordan Williams corner.

Skem home in on 'promised land'

By Neil Leatherbarrow

SKELMERSDALE United have the opportunity to put themselves another couple of stages toward the promised land of the Evo–Stik Premier Division this week when they stage a pair of home games on Saturday and Tuesday.

Play–off–chasing Clitheroe visit the West Lancashire College Stadium on Saturday, with Wakefield in town on Tuesday evening.

Both are teams that Tommy Lawson's side have conquered on their travels, winning by a massive 8–1 margin in East Lancashire and 2–0 on the first day of the season in West Yorkshire.

However, Clitheroe will pose stern opposition. Currently lying fifth in the Division One North table, they will be determined to hold on to the chance of grabbing promotion in the end of season lottery.

Wakefield will also have point to prove after they suffered an humiliating 10–1 reverse at Curzon Ashton on Easter Monday.

However, Skem will go into the two games in good heart, sitting on 83 points at the top of the table and holding a 16–point lead.

United won both their Easter games too, in the second showing that they are a team that can fight back in game after recovering from a goal to defeat Prescot Cables 3–1.

'Goalden Hine' is on target at the double

Skelmersdale United 3
Prescot Cables 1

By Neil Leatherbarrow

JUST after the hour mark United were making such hard work of defeating struggling Prescot that manager Tommy Lawson made three substitutions as his team that had started the day – showing four changes from the one that had won at Salford on Saturday – looked increasingly unlikely to pull back a one–goal deficit.

The changes paid off. In the 69th minute Dale Wright fired home a penalty to equalise, but even then it was only thanks to a pair of Josh Hine goals, on 87 and 92 minutes respectively, that they finally secured a victory that puts them 16 points clear in the Evo–Stik Division One North.

There was no real sign of what was to follow early on. In the 12th minute Matty Hughes released Mike Phenix into the penalty area. Prescot goalkeeper Adam Reid dived at Phenix's feet and the 6ft 4in striker crashed to the ground. A penalty was given and Hughes himself stepped up to take the kick only for Reid to dive to his left to pull off a terrific save.

There was no panic though as Skem were having the vast majority of possession and surely a goal would come soon. Hughes, lifted an opportunity wide, then Phenix headed wide. Dale Wright put one shot fizzing just over the crossbar before left–back Shaun Holden got forward and curled a shot just wide.

During the interval an expectant home crowd were not too bothered. Skem had been in this situation before this season and just upped their game.

As the game progressed though Prescot were getting more and more awkward, wasting time, breaking up play and doing everything in their power to stunt any tempo Skelmersdale could build up, while the referee only exacerbated the situation by not making any positive moves to make the visitors play.

Antony Hickey and Tony Evans went close for Skem before the prediction of any fatalist came true as Prescot scored. David Dempsey curled a left–wing corner to the far post and Liam Hollett muscled his way in to head home in the 56th minute.

Tommy Lawson had to act and he did, making three substitutions at once, bringing on Mark Jackson, Adam Morning and Josh Hine who had all been rested from the team that played at Salford.

The reaction was instantaneous. In the 69th minute Matty Hughes made a surging run down the left cutting into the 18–ard box and when Hollett stuck a leg out a second penalty was awarded. This time Wright lined up to take the spot–kick and gave Reid no chance, the big midfielder producing a shot straight out of the top–drawer.

Still it was hard work for Skem and the word dogged couldn't even start to describe Prescot.

Skelmersdale's best player on the day Paul Woolcott exchanged passes with Morning but Reid saved, Hine brought a great stop from Reid and Morning suffered the same fate.

Maybe the key move had been to introduce Jackson, because now the midfield were getting more involved for Skelmersdale and he started a move in the 87th minute that saw Hughes released down the right wing. He crossed into the goalmouth, Jackson, who had run on, challenged Reid and the ball dropped for Hine to run in and force it into the net. The sigh of relief from the Skelmersdale support was audible.

And two minutes into added time Skem grabbed a third goal. Morning made a swashbuckling run down the left and delivered the ball into the goalmouth, Hine doing the rest to take his tally for the weekend to four goals.

Skem too slick for City

Salford City 0 Skelmersdale United 3

UNITED had matters all tied up and delivered by the 51st minute at Moor Lane as they secured a 3–0 victory courtesy of two Josh Hine strikes and a spectacular free–kick by Adam Morning.

The game was almost a tragic occasion though as in the 36th minute Salford goalkeeper Ritchie Branagan was left motionless on the ground for 45 minutes by a neck injury that required his removal on a spinal board. Thankfully, by the final whistle the good news filtered through from the hospital that the 21–year–old had not suffered serious injury.

Skem opened the scoring in the ninth minute when Kenny Strickland's through ball put Hine in one–on–one with Branagan and the in–form striker slipped the ball low into the net.

In the 36th minute came the Branagan scare as the keeper tried to scoop the ball up while running at full pace, stumbled and went head over heels before lying motionless on the ground.

When the game re–started Nathan Taylor had taken over in goal and was soon beaten, a Shaun Holden cross being helped on for to finish at the far post.

Right on half–time Salford were down to 10 men when centre–forward Kinsella was red carded for an foul on Hickey.

Skem wasted no time after the re–start in going in for the kill and did so in the 51st minute, via a spectacular Morning free–kick from the right.

Morning could have had a hat–trick, Woolcott went close and Field hit the crossbar, while Gary Burnett failed to net with the goal at his mercy.

Richmond's happy Easter

Burscough Richmond 2
Haslinden St Mary's 1

RICHMOND completed a successful Easter following up their 4–3 success at Dalton on Saturday with another single–goal success.

The visitors had the better of the first–half exchanges and home goalkeeper Tom Shacklady marked his debut with good saves from Booth and Hulme.

On 53 minutes though Richmond took the lead when a defence–splitting pass by defender Ash Disley found striker Murt in space and he unleashed an unstoppable shot from the edge of the penalty area that rifled past Bell. And three minutes later striker Mark Beesley scored his first goal for Richmond, latching on to a rebound off the bar to head in from close range after good work by Lord and Hanson.

In the closing stages St Mary's got a consolation goal with striker Smart firing past Shacklady.

Saturday's win over Dalton saw Richmond come from 2–1 down with striker Jordan Lord grabbing a hat–trick after Jimmy Hanson's opener.

Student experience

You may know us as Liverpool Community College. However, we are now starting a journey as The City of Liverpool College – a name that reflects our position at the heart of Liverpool city life.

Whether its education or employment, the College is here to give our students the best possible start to get them where they want to be. We have an exceptionally large range of qualifications and career paths to choose from, helping young people to realise their goals for the future.

Students come to the College to gain good qualifications but we also want everyone's time here to be interesting, fun, exciting and rewarding. This experience, combined with the knowledge and skills learned along the way, will prove invaluable when moving into employment or on to university.

Producing talent

The College is committed to nurturing the talent and interests of our students. From business entrepreneurs to actors, fashion designers and athletes, many of our students have gone on to success in their chosen vocations.

Katarina Johnson-Thompson is one of our recent sporting stars. An heptathlete she has won gold in the World Youth Games and World Junior Championships. She recently made her Olympic debut at the London 2012 Games.

Apprenticeships

Apprenticeships are ideal for those who want to combine work with study. Apprentices come to the College part-time and get the best of both worlds. The qualifications gained can open doors to Higher Education at the College or university, while progressing in their chosen career.

Case study

Michael McGrath, 21, took many different routes before finding the right career path. He studied GCSEs and AS-levels at school but decided he wanted a change of environment. In 2012, after completing level 2 and 3 Computer Aided Design at the College and a brief spell on the College's popular Level 3 Construction course, he joined an apprenticeship in Creative and Digital Media working at Liverpool-based internet marketing agency, Ph. Creative. He will complete his apprenticeship later this year and hopes to secure a permanent position with the firm.

Michael said: "The apprenticeship programme has proven to be a really effective alternative route for me. I am really enjoying College as well as working on live projects with the professionals at Ph. Creative. Gaining industry knowledge and skills has pushed me to achieve more, as well as increasing my confidence in work abilities. I've finally found the right career which I am so passionate about."

Vocational

Vocational qualifications (BTEC diplomas, certificates, NVQs) are great courses with a clear career focus. This route opens doors to Higher Education qualifications at the College or university, as well as into employment.

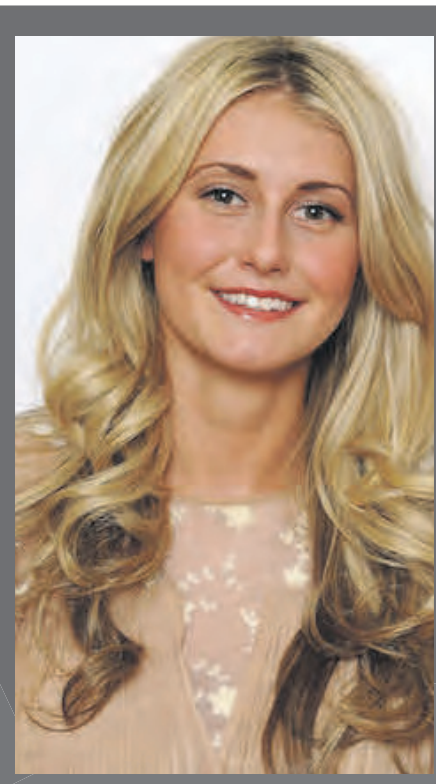
Case study

Jenna Stephenson, 18, completed a Level 3 diploma in Fashion Retail at the College in 2011. She went on to win gold in the Visual Merchandising category at last year's UK Skills competition alongside Melissa Dunne and has won a coveted place in Squad UK for the World Skills event in Leipzig 2013.

In October, Jenna also won a silver medal in the Euroskills 2012 competition in Belgium. The competition raises awareness of the importance of professional excellence and high quality vocational training for Europe.

Jenna is now doing a Level 4 diploma in buying and merchandising.

Jenna said: "I am gaining so many great experiences and opportunities at the College. I have had the chance to meet and work with some of the industry's top companies and professionals as well as gaining additional qualifications."



Academic

A-levels and GCSEs are academic qualifications. They can be subjects continuing from school such as English, maths and science or new subjects such as media studies and electronics. This route can lead to gaining higher level vocational qualifications or Higher Education at the College or university, or into employment.

Case study

Aaron Booth, 17, is currently in his second year of studying his A-levels in Biology, Chemistry and Mathematics and is predicted an A and two Bs.

After developing an interest in business through classes, he joined the College's Enterprise Club, which encourages entrepreneurial students to work alongside local business mentors and turn their business ideas into reality.

Through the Club, Aaron met Sir Richard Branson and persuaded him to invest in his mobile cake venture. The Virgin chief was suitably impressed and immediately gave Aaron the funds to purchase equipment and fund the business development, as well as exchanging details so they could stay in touch.

Aaron now has a successful enterprise and an enthusiastic client base. He plans to take his interest in business further and go on to Leeds University to study a degree in business management.
